BRC AND RENTOKIL INITIAL FORM STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP TO IMPROVE BEST PRACTICE IN THE FOOD INDUSTRY

BRC Global Standards and Rentokil Initial are delighted to announce a strategic partnership that sees both organizations focus on their continual commitment to help customers mitigate their risks throughout the food industry.

The strategic partnership enables the ongoing collaboration and development of new initiatives aimed at supporting the goals of BRC Global Standards and Rentokil Initial through the creation and adoption of new products, services, industry best practice and Standards.

Mark Proctor CEO at BRC Global Standards, said: “We are very pleased to announce this strategic partnership with Rentokil Initial. We see a significant opportunity to help our respective customers adopt best practice and benefit from two of the best solutions providers in the food safety industry. We are excited about the opportunities this partnership presents to help drive best practice and continual improvement for our customers”.

Andy Ransom, CEO of Rentokil Initial plc, said: “We are delighted to be working closely with BRC Global Standards to help deliver a safer food supply chain through higher standards of pest control and hygiene. As the global leader in pest control we can share best practices from across the globe and highlight the innovations and digital tools available to reduce risk.”
