

RENTOKIL AND GARDENIA: PARTNERSHIP FOR SUCCESSFUL INTEGRATED PEST MANAGEMENT

Gardenia Bakeries is an associate company of Padi Beras Nasional Berhad. Today, with a total production capacity of over two million loaves a day, Gardenia Malaysia has become the largest wholesale bakery in Southeast Asia. Like all other food processors, Gardenia enforces stringent quality assurance measures and provides reliable distribution channels for timely delivery of its goods because there are constant risks of pest infiltrating at any point within the supply chain.

Here is the edit of an interview with Encik Azmy, Manager – Management System & Institutional Relations, who spoke about the importance of partnership when it comes to managing pests.

“Integrated Pest Management (IPM) is critical in the food processing industry to keep products safe from contamination by pests and the diseases they carry. A comprehensive and successful IPM programme is necessary for Gardenia Bakeries to uphold the quality and safety of its products.

As our food safety programme requirements evolved, we were looking for a pest management partner that could provide consistent service, programme documentation, and access to resources and tools that would support our commitment to excellence. Hence, we chose Rentokil to be our partner because the tailored IPM programme by Rentokil is able to offer all these requirements to us.

Rentokil and our team are dedicated in working together to manage pest risks and will practise proactive sharing from both ends on ways to make improvements to our facility.

They are the experts who are committed to address our concerns, provide professional advice on pest management issues and support our food safety programme however they can.”
