

Ehrlich

Your Local Pest Control Experts
A Rentokil Company

Control for out-of-control plants

Expert vegetation management services

No matter how tall the weeds, we put them six feet under

There is no problem too large or small for our vegetation
management
technicians

When vegetation is in an unsafe or unattractive location, it is considered an undesirable weed. Ehrlich's technicians can control any type of undesirable vegetation. Using various combinations of materials and application techniques, services can be customized to meet your needs.

Tailored solutions and services

- Bare Ground Control – total vegetation control.
- Advanced Bare Ground Control – total vegetation control for sensitive areas adjacent to desirable vegetation or water.
- Selective Control – for broad leaf weed and brush control that manages undesirable vegetation while allowing grasses to remain and prevent erosion.

Professional technicians

Technicians are state certified for commercial herbicide applications in our operating area and continually receive additional training to maintain this certification.

Materials used

All of the materials used are non-flammable, non-corrosive, and low in toxicity. Specimen labels and safety data sheets (SDS) are available upon request.

Did you know?

- Unwanted vegetation around your facility and grounds:
- Provides pests with a place to hide.
- Poses serious health, fire, and safety hazards.
- Presents a very unappealing environment that can affect the way people perceive your company.

As an extension of our world-class pest management products and services we also offer Vegetation Management Services that can address all of these potential problem areas.

As the expert in vegetation management services, we:

- Improve safety by removing hazards.
- Provide a cost savings alternative by reducing labor and equipment needs.
- Eliminate harborage areas for mice, rats, and other pests.
- Control hazardous and invasive plants that are a nuisance or affect health.
- Improve aesthetics and appearance to protect your image.

Ehrlich vegetation management representatives carry-out a detailed on site assessment of your property before proposing a discreet, tailored solution, to protect the integrity of the building and property.

Services to protect your brand

Ehrlich Pest Control has provided innovative service to businesses and homeowners since 1928. As a division of Rentokil, the world's largest commercial pest control company, we can provide service in any part of the globe.

In addition to vegetation management, we offer a wide range of services, including:

- General Pest Control Maintenance – Develop an integrated pest management program with an effective and environmentally sensitive approach based on the causes of your pest problems, your needs, and budget.
- Bed Bug Control – Eradicate bed bugs with our range of effective treatment options combined with an approach that involves education, early detection, and proven methods.
- Termite Control – Protect your business with a treatment zone around your facility to prevent or treat termites.
- Bioremediation – Maintain proper functioning of your drain lines with innovative technology that utilizes live microorganisms that digest fat, oil, and grease and converts them into water and carbon dioxide.
- Bird Control – Minimize your risk with Ehrlich's specialized bird and bat control team that handles exclusion and clean-up without harming the birds or your building.

jcehrlich.com
(855) 226-0075